Open Position: Wind Data Intern, Commercial Operations

Company Overview:

REsurety is a venture-backed FinTech startup that is eliminating the challenge of resource intermittency for the wind power industry. We are revenue-positive, have active customers, and work in partnership with some of the world's leading risk market players. Our team keeps an informal office with open lines of communication, little hierarchy, and a rapid pace. If putting your skills to work to drive down the cost of renewable energy by solving the challenge of resource intermittency sounds exciting, then we would love to receive your application.

Position Overview:

As a wind data intern on the Commercial Operations team, you will support analysis of client data and assist in product delivery.

Key Responsibilities:

- Analyze and understand customer site data (meteorological, SCADA, etc.) and power market data
- Continue the advancement of REsurety's wind resource assessment capabilities
- Support the evaluation and structuring of hedging contracts
- Support the design and implementation of REsurety's technical architecture and analytics
- Execute quality control checks of data critical to business processes

Required Qualifications:

- A passion for driving down the cost of energy from renewable sources
- Major in atmospheric science, meteorology, power systems engineering or a related field
- Self-motivated & detail oriented: capable of executing complex analyses with little oversight

Preferred Qualifications:

- Experience working with meteorological data and power curves
- Experience with wind industry software tools (Windographer, WAsP, etc.)
- Knowledge of wind industry resource assessment, operations, and economics

Details

- Location: Boston, MA
- Full time during summer months, part time during the school year (flexible)
- Duration: 10+ weeks
